Leuven, October 5, 2011 Quest for Growth announces today its first investment in Cartagenia, a private company developing and marketing software for the worldwide market of genetic labs.

Quest for Growth is leading a € 2.2 million financing round, taking up € 1.25 million next to the existing investors PMV/Vinnof, the Gemma Frisius Fund and the founders of Cartagenia. The investment will be split in 2 tranches. The proceeds will be used for further market development, for setting up an office in the U.S.A. and for further investment into a new product line.

At the end of 2008, Bert Coessens and Steven Van Vooren founded Cartagenia as a spin-off company from K.U.L., the University of Leuven. Herman Verrelst, an experienced software entrepreneur co-invested at the incorporation and joined the team as CEO.

Cartagenia develops and markets its "BENCH" software solutions that are targeting the fast growing market of genetic diagnosis. Cartagenia supports genetic labs and clinicians with the management and interpretation of genetic patient information. At present, applications focus mostly on the area of constitutional congenital abnormalities. The company will use part of the proceeds of the new financing round to develop new applications in the areas of cancer diagnostics and pre-natal screening.

About Cartagenia

www.cartagenia.com

Cartagenia delivers diagnostic knowledge, software and database systems, and related services to enable genetic labs and clinicians to perform clinically relevant genetic analyses quickly and efficiently, and allow them to offer patients and carers high quality genetic interpretation and counseling.
